Evening Program

LETTER FROM THE SEA FARE COMMITTEE

Dear Sea Farer,

We are thrilled to welcome you to the Aquarium of the Pacific's 9th Annual Sea Fare! Whether you're a first-time guest or enjoyed all eight events, you're in store for a night to remember. Enclosed is your guide to a marvelous and delectable evening!

Dine alongside the fish as you sample savory treats from over 25 local food & beverage providers. Explore our galleries and exhibits with a cocktail in hand. Bid on an eclectic variety of silent and live auction items. And dance the night away under our blue whale. However you choose to celebrate – know that your generosity benefits the Aquarium's important education, ocean conservation, and animal care programs.

Sea Fare is also made possible through your support, as well as the generosity of dozens of local restaurants, bakeries, event sponsors, auction item donors, and volunteers. Please join us in thanking them for their contributions to tonight's festivities!

Thank you for joining us this evening, and for being a part of the Aquarium community all year-round. It's time to Sea Fare!

Warmly,

Your 2012 Sea Fare Committee

7:00pm in Shark Lagoon

w/Chef Patrick 'Paddy' Glennon, Founder of the Culinary Liberation Front and Josh Fisher, California lobster fisherman

California spiny lobsters are firm, mild, and sweet. They are an excellent source of low-fat protein, selenium, and omega 3 fatty acids. The California spiny lobster fishery is a trap fishery that results in minimal bycatch and impacts on the surrounding environment. It is well-managed by the California Department of Fish and Game with limited entry, season, and minimum size limits. Preliminary studies suggest that California spiny lobster populations are also benefiting from in Marine Protected Areas. Spiny lobster season in California is from October – March.

Founder of the Culinary Liberation Front*
Sablefish donated by Santa Monica Seafood

Pacific sablefish (black cod) has an oily, velvety texture that some compare with the Chilean seabass. Also known as the "butterfish" for its melt-in-your-mouth texture, sablefish are rich in heart-healthy omega 3 fatty acids (almost as much as salmon). The species is caught with trap/pot, trawl, longline, and gillnet fishing gear throughout the Pacific coast year-round, with peak landings in California are from June – August. Pacific sablefish are well-managed by the National Marine Fisheries Service and the Pacific Fishery Management Council to minimize bycatch and impacts on the surrounding ecosystems, while maintaining healthy stocks.
